

Texas Waterway Cleanup Program

The rivers and lakes of our great state provide recreation, drinking water, agricultural irrigation and beauty. Unfortunately, many Texas waterways are polluted. Everything from cigarette butts to plastic bags and old tires contributes to substandard water quality and affects the beauty and appeal of our waterways. The Texas Waterway Cleanup Program is an effort between Keep Texas Beautiful (KTB) and the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality. The program offers FREE cleanup supplies and helps communities and organizations coordinate waterway cleanups and litter prevention activities.

What Can I Do?

- Plan a cleanup of a lake, river, creek, wetland, or other freshwater area for your family, friends, workplace, or community!
- Mark storm drains with a message to help prevent water pollution!
- Find out if you can help start a waterway restoration project in your area. For more information, visit www.tceq.com/goto/tmdl.

Who Can Participate?

- government agencies
- concerned Texans
- community and nonprofit groups
